

The Need

Your risk registers should be the dynamic powerhouse behind your Risk Management strategy. If they're not - "we've got risk registers but most people don't use them and they're becoming increasingly useless" is a typical comment - then whether you have no risk registers, neglected ones or ones that are not fulfilling their potential... we can help.

Our approach

We can either build on what you already have or - if you haven't started the process - help you to create dynamic registers from scratch. Either way, the result will be registers that:

- ✓ Embrace all of your risks, including high level board risks, operational and intangible
- ✓ Reflect both risk and opportunities
- ✓ Contain all of the key facts that help you to appraise each risk and adjust your strategy dynamically as the risk factors change
- ✓ Utilise graphic modelling to easily communicate the factors for the management of each risk
- ✓ Use the 80/20 rule stop the registers from becoming unwieldy
- ✓ Link to powerful reporting systems to ensure that you always have an up-to-date picture of your progress in managing each key risk

We will adapt our processes to precisely match your needs, culture and way of doing things. To this we will add our considerable workshop skills and processes to produce a stimulating and enjoyable experience that will project Risk Management as the dynamic and totally relevant process that it can be.

Your risk registers should be at the dynamic heart of your Risk Management process... Are they?

Process transfer

As part of the transfer process we would coach those who will be doing ongoing training and register sheet maintenance to use the powerful processes that we have ourselves developed - for example, for the graphic analysis of risk.

As a result, you will achieve:

- ✓ Buy-in
- ✓ Relevance
- ✓ A powerful and dynamic engine to drive your Risk Management strategy
